

Operations during snapshot or backup

What happens to the performance of a single AZ RDS instance during a database snapshot or backup?

Selecione uma alternativa

- A I/O operations will function normally.
- B I/O may be briefly suspended while the backup process initializes (typically under a few seconds), and you may experience a brief period of elevated latency.
- C I/O will be suspended for a long period (at least 1 hour).