versão final

A horizontal timeline diagram illustrating a process flow. A thick green line represents the main timeline, which is flat for most of its length but features a sharp, vertical downward bend near its left end. A thin grey line extends from the left end of the green line, continuing downwards and then curving back upwards to meet the green line again. A green circular marker is positioned on the green line at the point where the grey line rejoins it. To the right of this marker, a green dotted line extends upwards and to the right, ending with a green circular arrowhead. The text 'Produção do planejamento' is written in a light grey font below the grey line, and the text 'Entrega da versão final' is written in a green font above the dotted line.
